SIERRA MADRE, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

FRIDAY, APRIL 4, 1930

GREAT CROWD HERE TO SEE WISTARIA FETE

City Planning To Rush Central Ave. Extension As County Gives Funds

Last Obstacle Removed When Supervisors Vote Money
In Improvement - Engineer
Makes Report

The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors has removed the last obstacle to the extension of Central avenue to connect with Colorado boulevard, in Pasadena, and the dirt will soon fly in this great improvement that will remove Sierra Madre's isolation by giving the city a direct outlet through the metropolitan district East and West.

Through the Supervisors at a meeting of the board on Tuesday, the county has allocated $75,000 as its portion of the cost of the undertaking. The exact amount set aside as county aid for the project at this time is $60,272. The sum of $10,000 had previously been paid this city and $4,728 has been pledged Arcadia when the Council of that municipality elects to go forward under the present proceedings.

FUNDS FOR PASADENA
Pasadena will be extended county aid in the sum of $21,518 and $28,477 will be expended in unincorporated territory through which the new artery will extend. In a report on the subject submitted to the City Council at a meeting on Wednesday night Henry S. Gierlich, the engineer who has handled the city's plans for the improvement, says only a few minor details remain to be adjusted now before an ordinance of intention may be adopted by Sierra Madre and the actual physical labor of the job begun, as until the amount of county aid was determined it was impossible to make zoning maps and fix the lines of the assessment districts. This work is now under way.

As soon as the estimates are definitely fixed and the resolution of intention passed, Pasadena and Arcadia will be asked for final jurisdiction. The next step will be to file with the court proceedings for condemnation of the property needed for the improvement together with the amount of damages fixed. This money will be obtained by the sale of city bonds. Authorization from the court will open the way to starting the actual work.

CONFERENCE ON DETAILS
Engineer Gierlich says he plans a conference with Charles H. Hastings, owner of the Hastings ranch that the street is to traverse, the Pacific Electric Company, and officials of Pasadena in a few days, for a final check up.

Mr. Gierlich's report to the Council is a comprehensive document indicating what the improvement is to consist of. In part it says:
"Between Santa Anita avenue in Arcadia and Baldwin avenue in Sierra Madre the street is to be 65 feet in width between property lines and 45 feet in width between curb lines. Between Canyon avenue and the Easterly city boundary of Sierra Madre the street now varies in width from 57.5 feet to 50 feet and it will be necessary to acquire land to widen the street to the 65 foot width."

"In Arcadia the street is now 50 feet in width and on account of the jog in the present street layout at the Easterly city boundary of Sierra Madre it will be necessary to acquire all the land necessary for a 65 foot street on the North side."

"From Baldwin avenue to Sierra Madre avenue the street is at present 80 feet in width between property lines and 56 feet between curb lines; however there

Appreciation Is Expressed At Polls

Displaying over eight times as much interest as in former campaigns, the citizens of Sierra Madre cast 430 votes in the school board election March 28th for Mrs. Cecily E. Allen, unopposed candidate to succeed herself as trustee on the board. The average number of votes cast in past years and under similar circumstances has been only 50. The heavy vote may be attributed partly to the increased enthusiasm of Sierra Madre for the future of its children and partly to the sterling worth of Mrs. Allen to the past three years which caused many people to register their appreciation.

The two members of the board with whom Mrs. Allen will work during the coming year are Mrs. Gilbert S. Bovard and J. O. Smith.

Sierra Madre Folk Helping Take Census

Enumerator Reports Finding
Many Boosters For City
In Her Rounds

"I find many boosters for Sierra Madre on my calls. Everybody I have been to see so far can't keep from expressing their joy over the fact that they live here and they have been wonderful about volunteering the information I have to get," declared Mary J. Helms, who started Wednesday to take census in this city.

"The first place I called was the Passionist Monastery on Mt. Tara. On Wednesday I went to the homes of the people connected with the Fete, knowing they would be busy from Thursday on. 'There is one thing I would like to explain. That is the necessity of people's registering even though they own homes elsewhere or are in Sierra Madre only on a visit. If they don't register while here they will not be counted as citizens of the United States and the population will be short by their number. It is a patriotic duty to register. 'Another misconception which exists is that census registration has something to do with taxes. There is absolutely no connection. The census is for enumerative purposes only.'"

Albert Engfall, field assistant to the supervisor of the census for the fifteenth district which includes Sierra Madre with headquarters in Pasadena, reports that one family in Pasadena refused to give any information. Unless they relent they will be summoned before United States court. One Oak Knoll woman told the census enumerator she could not be bothered as she was "going to a bridge breakfast." Another woman said she couldn't give the names of her father and mother because she did not know them. Another said: "I am not interested. I have no money to buy a census."

Ralph Stewart, of Sierra Madre, who represented the district supervisor in the preliminaries and organized the work, has been relieved, and the three enumerators operating in Sierra Madre are making their reports to the Pasadena office.

Many Seek Office Here At Primary

Lots of Places, Including
Eleven Seats on Superior
Bench to Fill

Assurance of a lively primary election in Los Angeles county this summer is given by the flock of candidates already scared up by the announcement of Supervisor Fred T. Beatty that he will not be a candidate for re-election from the First district. There will be many offices to fill, including eleven places on the Superior Court bench.

Sidney T. Graves has given notice that he will seek another term as Supervisor and it is considered highly probable that Sheriff W. I. Traeger will be a candidate to succeed himself if he recovers sufficiently from a recent heart attack.

The eleven judges whose terms expire are Harry R. Archibald, Edward T. Bishop, Frank C. Collier, Hugh J. Crawford, John L. Fleming, Walter Guerin, J. Walter Hanby, Carlos S. Hardy, William Hazlett, Arthur Ketch and Hartley Shaw.

Withdrawal of City Director Irving S. Monroe, of Pasadena, from the race for county supervisor is expected to bring announcements from several other aspirants in the foothill community. Col. R. E. Frith, of Monrovia, is expected to be actively in the field within a few days. Hugh A. Thatcher, of Pomona, has announced his candidacy. Others who have been mentioned as candidates in the first district are Jerome V. Scofield, of Huntington Park, Mayor Albert Chamness, of Whittier and J. W. Reagan, of Long Beach.

Whole City Cleaned Up And In Holiday Dress For Visitors

Breakfast For Notables At
Vine Marks Opening
Of Program

Sierra Madre took on a real holiday air with the opening yesterday of what promises to be the most notable of its long series of Wistaria Fetes.

Bammy, velvety weather for which Sierra Madre is famous, formally began with a breakfast to officials, writers and notables served under the world famous power of loveliness known as the fennell vine on Scenic Point, which is the center of the Festival. Though she had fractured her arm while helping to decorate the fennell grounds on the previous day, Mrs. John H. Robertson, as President of the Woman's Club, which sponsors the Fete, presided at this delightful function so marvelously staged.

The city was gaily decorated with flags and pennants and visitors arrived hours before the opening festivity, to find an almost unbroken stream until the shades of night began to fall upon the slopes of Mother Mountain.

City Dresses Up

Though not yet quite in the fullness of its glory the great vine was said by those who have watched it each year, to be more closely covered with the wonderful blooms than ever before.

The new features added to the Fete this year that will afford visitors an opportunity to see the loveliness of Sierra Madre by a well laid out tour of the city and the privilege on Tuesday and Fridays of visiting a dozen of the most beautifully landscaped of the city's gardens, excited great interest among the visitors. The route of the tour of the city was staked out with flags and a constant procession of cars traversed the route. Scores of reservations were made for the first of the garden tours, which will be held today and which is sure to excite the wonder and admiration of all who are fortunate enough to take it.

Through the courtesy of the officers of the Woman's Club, THE SIERRA MADRE NEWS has been given a booth right at the entrance to the Fete grounds where three registers are being kept to record the names of the city's visitors. This booth was presided over yesterday by Mrs. Gertrude Lieben and Mrs. Isabel Ashbury, society editor of THE NEWS. Each day it will be made attractive by the presence of one of the charming women of the younger set who will record the details of this year's Fete.

Vine Nearly Perfect

Deep appreciation was expressed yesterday by all of those in charge of the city's annual event and who have the welfare of the city at heart, over the splendid appearance the city presented and the care with which the streets, lawns and vacant lots had been cleaned up and made attractive.

The Wistaria Fete opened with a successful Press breakfast Thursday at 11:30 where three tables were placed under the world's most famous and largest Wistaria Vine. The sun shining down through the dainty vine, now gorgeous with its orchid pendants, made a charming picture with the tables set in pastel colored cloths centered with sweet peas.

The guests included: Mrs. John H. Robertson, President of the Woman's Club, who sponsors the Fete; Mrs. Estelle Fennell, owner of the home and gardens featuring the Wistaria; Mrs. A. A. Halsey, chairman of garden tours, representing the Sierra Madre Council; Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Orblson; L. R. Goshorn, publisher and editor of the Sierra Madre News; Doris Goshorn, his daughter.

Garden Tour Will Delight Visiting Host

Ten Sierra Madre Homes

Flowering Beauty

BY LAURA E. CADMUS

Beautiful gardens to be opened to visitors in tours about the city on Tuesdays and Fridays, during the period of the Wistaria Fete, proved a delight to a group on Wednesday who made a preliminary tour of all gardens to be shown.

Tuesday's tour was conducted by Mrs. A. A. Halsey, chairman of the Garden and Community Service sections of the Woman's Club, the organization sponsoring the Fete.

In the party were: Mrs. John H. Robertson, president of the club; Wilfred R. Humphries, chairman publicity and decoration from the Chamber of Commerce; Miss Laura E. Cadmus, club press chairman; Mrs. H. B. Hersey; Mrs. John H. Osgood; Mrs. Frederic S. Ackley; Mrs. John Lowe; and L. R. Goshorn, editor and publisher of the Sierra Madre News.

The tour followed the route to be taken during the Fete, when a guide driving a pilot car will be furnished for each trip, so that visitors may easily follow in their own cars.

GUIDES IN PILOT CARS
Organizations cooperating with the Woman's Club in providing guides and pilot cars are: American Legion and its Auxiliary, Men's Community Club, and Eastern Star.

Itinerary and gardens visited in order of their calling are as follows: Home of Wilfred R. Humphries, opposite the Wistaria Vine on West Carter avenue, where winding paths lead through two acres, past a dozen varieties of citrus trees labeled, Orange Blossom Lane and Honeymoon Trail. At these grounds a booth is equipped for Mrs. Halsey and her garden hostesses where printed itineraries will be given to all taking the tours.

From here the tour proceeds South on Auburn to Mira Monte avenue, Easterly to Mountain Trail and along Sturtevant drive, with a stop inside the wonderful grounds of Mrs. R. A. Pratt for a view of exquisite hillside planting. Passing through this estate to Alegria avenue, the terraced Japanese Gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Issacs, with their rare shrubs, groves and ferns figures disporting with fish lines in shady pools, are next seen. On the same street Mrs. Halsey's delightful half acre with its formal planting, intimate garden of annuals, pool and roses, and its orchard separated by a semi-circular hedge to which entrance is made through pergola gates, is visited.

"ITALIA MIA" OPEN
West to Baldwin avenue, thence to Grand View avenue and north on Adams street, the five acre natural gardens of Oscar Seilach, achievement of one man, are seen. Returning to Grand View avenue, the route of "Italia Mia," home of Miss Thomasella Graham, set amidst formal Italian gardens at the head of a long avenue of Irish yew trees.

Cars pass through the entrance to Bailey Canyon to the Times prize garden of Evan Anderson and Japanese fields of delphinium and snap dragons. Proceeding South along Sunnyside avenue to Live Oak, orange grove gardens at "Aberobello," home of Fred Hooker Jones with its patriarchal oak numbering 600 years; and the four acres under cultivation, with ramada and tropical patio, of Mrs. Hazel I. Smith and Mrs. E. J. McCray, are enjoyed. Visitors will here be given an opportunity to see Mrs. Smith's famous string of Palomino horses.

Along Morton avenue and East on Central avenue, visitors will be received at the Henry E. Jaeger cactus gardens, the twenty acre Kentia Palm nursery, the largest known under cover, and the attractive small home garden of Mrs. A. R. Hinton with its California wild flower garden.

ART AT CITY HALL
A trip along East Montecito avenue leads past the Wistaria Vine at the Alvin Langley home, and a visit to the "Little Art Gallery" at the City Hall, where exhibits of well known local artists are hung, concludes the tours, which will only be conducted on Tuesdays and Fridays.

West Central, Baldwin and Sierra Madre avenue are not listed, as all visitors to the Fete either enter or leave by these streets.

Sierra Madre And Arcadia Settle Long Legal Dispute Over Water Basin Rights

Power for 11
Cities Here
Apportioned

Division of Boulder Dam
Energy Agreement OK'd
by Government

Eleven Southern California cities outside of Los Angeles, including Pasadena, have agreed on the split-up of power to be derived from the Boulder Dam. The agreement was reached at a conference held in Los Angeles in the office of the Metropolitan Water District with B. Northcott Ely, executive assistant to R. L. Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior. A contract with the Department of the Interior will probably be signed next Monday.

Southern California will have the benefit of the surplus energy, both primary and secondary, the smaller cities will have the use, at cost, of either Los Angeles or Southern California Edison company transmission lines set up to convey the power to the Los Angeles county district. A committee, headed by B. F. De Lanty, of Pasadena's municipal light and power plant, will make a check of last year's consumption of electricity by the eleven cities involved.

Mr. Ely announced that the agreement gives the "smaller municipalities" fifty per cent more power than the allocation made tentatively last October, or eight per cent of the total power developed at the dam. At the start this will be 650,000 firm horse power, or 4,240,000 kilowatt hours; declining to 585,000 h.p. or 3,800,000 k.w.h. by the end of the 50-year contract period by which time it is expected the upper basin States will be using their allocations. About 255,000,000 kilowatt hours of energy will be available at the start for Pasadena and the other "smaller cities," said Mr. Ely. He added that if any of the cities dropped out of the arrangement, those left could take up the surplus power they wished. They could arrange among themselves as to taking in any other city.

Whole Countryside Deluged With Oil By A Great Gusher

Thousands of barrels of oil and millions of cubic feet of gas are deluging a wide territory near Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, as the uncontrolled well, Mary Sudik No. 1, keeps spouting with tremendous force despite all the expert workers who have been trying for a week to harness it. Oil is shooting out like a water-spout and being carried by the wind in all directions fearful lest the striking of a match or a spark from an automobile will start a fire and bring further disaster.

The well first came in as a dry gasser, much to the chagrin of Mary Sukin, on whose land it had been sunk. Suddenly it erupted and is now coughing out nearly 50,000 barrels of oil a day, and 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas, all going to waste. Farms within two miles are ruined and men are wading waste deep in oil pools. The gas has filled the gulches. One hundred wells, in the fields have been forced to shut down to lessen the peril.

MORE RAIN—SOME FROST IS PROMISED

Generous showers and two frosts are promised by the Father Ricard observatory at San Jose. The April report, based on sun spots, was prepared by his assistants, Father Ricard still being ill. April 4, 5 and 6 cold nights and probably frosts in the Southwest. April 13 14 and 15 probably rain, 24 and 25 April showers, 29 and 30 dangerous frosts threaten Southwest.

Both City Councils Ratify
Agreement Covering Use
Of Well No. 4 And Will
Install Measuring Device

After four years of wrangling and expense Sierra Madre and Arcadia smoked the pipe of peace on Wednesday night when councils of both cities ratified a compromise agreement covering the disposition of water from the Santa Anita basin. The suit brought by Sierra Madre against Arcadia in 1926, and which has been shifted back and forth on many court calendars without a hearing, will be dropped.

Under the agreement approved by both councils the cities will jointly share the expense of putting a measuring device on Well No. 4. The new arrangement limits Arcadia to export 2,000 acre feet of water a year if the water level is 85 feet. But in the event that the Stocker ranch is subdivided and the population increases with greater need for water supply, Arcadia will be limited to a maximum of 1,000 acre feet per year. If the water level drops to 150 feet, no water will be exported by Arcadia.

The compromise was worked out by City Attorney Phil Dodson, and A. L. Sonderegger, representing Sierra Madre, and Willis Jones and Attorney Haas, representing Arcadia. On Wednesday night, after the agreement had been approved and signed by Sierra Madre council, a recess was taken while Attorney Dodson drove to Arcadia, where the Arcadia council was in session. Arcadia quickly took action, the official names were signed on the dotted lines, and Dodson rushed back to Sierra Madre.

The water controversy was a costly matter to both cities. For years Sierra Madre engaged special counsel to look after its interests in the matter. The services of James Howard were discontinued last spring and the matter put in the hands of City Attorney Dodson. The compromise will affect a big saving to Sierra Madre.

There is general jubilation over the peaceful settlement, since Sierra Madre serves to get all it contends for. It was impossible to oust Arcadia entirely from use of the basin water because that city had acquired its right by possession. Arcadia's weakness was in the fact that it was exporting the water, and its officials realized that their position would be untenable under the law in the event of growth of population over the Santa Anita basin territory.

Honor Memory Of Mrs. Chloe B. Jones

Former students, her neighbors and friends honored the memory of Mrs. Chloe Blakeman Jones, of Sierra Madre, at a gathering in the library of the Friday Morning Club, South Figurea street, Los Angeles, last Sunday. The service was simple in keeping with the character of the aged teacher who died in her eighty-sixth year, after a career in which she devoted sixty years to educational work.

Mary E. Foy, noted as a lecturer and for her activities in women's civic organizations, presided, and called upon various persons who attended to pay their respects. There were no set speeches or eulogies. Frederick Cox, former pupil, Mrs. Francis Peckham, Eugene McDaniels, Sara Reese, and Leonard Hall, a former pupil, spoke of the late teacher's love for her charges. C. M. Perry told of his association with her, as did Fannie Harold, a teacher. More than a score spoke briefly.

Bird Armies Pick Ontario As Camp Site

Sand cranes from Mexico made their annual early spring visit and mobilization at Ontario last Friday. For five years the sand cranes have made Ontario a gathering place on their flight to the North. For several hours they sailed over the city while flocks from the South joined the central group. Finally, in V-shape formation, they headed for the mountains and their summer home. Ontario, for the first time, and on the same day, was visited by a flock of wild valley quail. They flew over Euclid avenue and came to rest on the trees.

The Literary Digest's prohibition poll shows San Francisco 2,873 for enforcement, 7,895 for modification and 12,758 for repeal. A smaller poll from Oakland shows a like ratio. Boston voted three to one against prohibition and Detroit six to one against it.

Replying to Dr. Clarence True Wilson, head of the dries, that the wets are voting many times and often with ballots printed from their own press, Seaver Woods, editor of Literary Digest says: "The ballots were printed on a special patented paper stock and we bought the entire output in the country."

United States Senator Waterman, of Colorado, believes President Hoover should call out the army to enforce prohibition. George W. The Midway field, San Joaquin county, has taken the record for the world's deepest oil well, Mascot No. 1, owned by Standard Oil, passed 9,500 feet, which is 170 feet deeper than any other hole. As part of a national highway safety plan Pacific Coast representatives of the auto industry plan to scrap approximately 36,000 unfit automobiles at a cost of about $1,262,000 this year. Wilson Wood, Harding Played Poker and Coolidge Saved Half Of An Apple

Harold C. Keyes, a secret service man who guarded three presidents, told the members of the Chicago Executive Club that—

Woodrow Wilson unburdened his sentiments to the second Mrs. Wilson in the form of sonnets and other poetry, with in earshot of the secret service men.

President Harding loved to play poker but never won. There may have been graft in his administration but he never knew of it.

After President Coolidge had been sworn in by his father by lamplight, he looked around the room, and said: "Well, it's getting late. Let's go to bed." At the White House Coolidge used the basement every day in returning from the Executive offices. He would stop at the ice box and take an apple. "He would slice this in two," said Keyes, "and offer me half. When I refused the half, he would put it back on a saucer, cover it with a glass dish, and put it back in the ice box."

Whole World Comes to California on Wheels

Motorists from every state in the Union, including the territory of Alaska and from Brazil, Canada, China, Cuba, England, France, Germany, Hawaii, Italy, Japan, Mexico, New Zealand, Panama, South America and West Indies made up the out-of-state visitors in California last year, according to the Division of Motor Vehicles.

There were more than 90,000 visiting cars that were issued temporary permits, but as the law does not require a permit to be issued unless the car remains in the state ten days, it is evident that thousands of cars were not registered officially as being from out of the state.

Boost for Sierra Madre

To the Editor:

I have been living in your city since the 9th of this month and I am wondering if you would care to publish in your dandy paper a few thoughts as expressed by a man who has been visiting in Southern California since the 6th of September and whose home for the past seven years has been in Denver, Colorado. During this time my wife and myself have been visiting and sightseeing in Los Angeles, San Diego and now here. We have been to many points of interest and have had a very enjoyable time in Southern California but desire to say in all honesty Sierra Madre and its nearby scenery is just the cutest little city and the dandiest nearby country it has been own privilege so far to see and enjoy.

Yours truly,
Chas. T. Lindsay.

Foothill Blvd. Is Next Big Undertaking

But Supervisors Say Money Must Come From Next Budget

Mayor A. N. Multer, of Arcadia, has just received a letter from George W. Jones, road commissioner, stating that county funds toward paving Huntington drive, Colorado street and Orange avenue, making two direct high-way links between Pasadena, Arcadia, Monrovia and other cities in the San Gabriel Valley, will be included in the next county budget. The decision to go ahead with Foothill first is to prevent the loss of the state's allocation of funds.

Commissioner Jones, in his letter, also gives hope that funds may be found for the subway under the Santa Fe tracks, to carry Colorado street to a junction with Orange avenue at Santa Anita avenue (Double Drive). He said the improvement of Foothill will not be held up pending the condemnation of right of way through Pasadena.

Mayor Multer stated that they had obtained the unanimous agreement of the property owners of Foothill boulevard in Arcadia for the widening and improvement of that street.

Sewage Disposal In San Gabriel Valley Is Object of Survey

All its municipalities are being invited to take part in a proposal to handle all the sewage of the San Gabriel valley, with disposal plants at strategic points. The idea originated at El Monte and has been taken up by Franklin Thomas and Col. Charles T. Leeds, of Pasadena, City Manager A. E. Stockburger, of Alhambra and Professor Reynolds, of Stanford University. Pasadena has been asked to contribute $2,500 to the cost of a survey.

It is proposed not only to conserve the sewage disposal water, using it for irrigation purposes, but also to manufacture fertilizer, as is done at the Pasadena plant. The Pasadena plant may be acquired by the district as one of the important units.

The Pasadena plant represents an outlay of near a $1,000,000, and at present cares for Pasadena, Alhambra, South Pasadena and San Marino.

Fire Flames

By One of the Boys

Here they come! Cars, automobiles and Fords. The town is all dressed up to receive them and Chief Richard's crew takes care of 'em, even to canine occupants.

Last Friday evening after the regular practice, each able-bodied fireman was introduced to a shoveler. A leveling off stunt was pulled at the Wistaria parking grounds but not without the usual mishap. Fortunately, only four boys received a shower of dirt down their necks. It was necessary to wet down the grounds and Louie was assigned to the fireplug. This, no doubt, kept down considerable annoyance. Several brave lads went to practice in the Pierce-Arrow. It was with great difficulty that the Chief succeeded in preventing a trip to Brawley or some other Southern point.

A near disastrous occurrence happened immediately after our regular business meeting. Were it not for the strength of three-fourths of the members, a general riot may have ensued. From somewhere a small toy balloon was obtained and filled with dressing and pinned on one of our good natured brother's shirts. As Tom Schwartz seemed to be enjoying it immensely, it was surmised that he must have been the instigator and when Brooks endeavored to shove it down his neck, trouble began. The result was too horrible, even to our own imagination. Tom denies the guilt and to date our "schemer" has not learned of the source of the "balloon" joke. For once he is on the short end.

In real seriousness, the writer would like to relate that although we tell of some of these jokes, our meetings are conducted in a business manner and we play afterwards. A sort of an apology, you know.

Officer Scott fed us last week and he had plenty of dishes to wash, which means that he spread a table full. If we continue to outdo each other, by the time it gets to Karger he will have to serve a carload of limburger.

The parking of cars at the Wistaria Fete seems to be the predominating occupancy at present, although some of our old reliables are already at work on the new truck. These reliables gave an exhibition of their skill by driving the old "hack" through the grounds after having removed the body. We don't know whether it was a Fisher

Promoter of Biggest Bank Says Character Leads to Real Success

Albert H. Wiggin, promoter of the recent merger that formed the biggest bank in the world in New York, told B. C. Forbes: "Character—personality—is the passport to success, not friends. Friends made for an end don't last till the end. Any friendship that has to be bought, not necessarily in dollars, but by fawning or flattery or dining or entertaining, is not worth having. Smiles don't win the best kind of friends; it's what is behind the smiles—personality, ability. Friendships inspired by your pocketbook are not friendships; they are, as far as you are concerned, frauds, for they are not genuine, they are not true blue, they are not sincere."

HALF A MILLION BOYS TO PLAY BASEBALL

Rules under which a half a million boys will compete for the 1930 baseball championship in the American Legion Junior Baseball program have just been completed. The teaching of sportsmanship under Legion supervision is one of the primary purposes of the competition.

Competition will be open only to amateurs. The boys must not have attained their seventeenth birthday before September 15, to be eligible.

Civic organizations, commercial concerns, and newspapers are invited to sponsor one or more teams in the Legion supervised competition. All players must have enrolled before June 15, 1930. No team may carry more than fourteen players.

KIWANIS PLANTS TREES

A new activity for Kiwanis Clubs that has a strong appeal for all nature lovers is reported from the Hemet-San Jacinto, Riverside and Banning branches of this organization. An annual tree planting day was held recently and 2,000 evergreen trees were given a start in life in the open in Chimney Flats.

body, but we do know that Bob Babbitt fished everything from it that he could get in his truck. From the glass, he said he was going to make "sun glasses" to keep the sun and dust from the boys' eyes at the parking ground.

There are several announcements to be made but due to the next election, space is scarce, so before retiring, I'll see that the "Fire's Out."

Snow Sports Continue

More than 9,000 winter sports enthusiasts visited Big Pines Recreation Camp over the week-end, taking advantage of possibly the last few weeks of snow for the winter season. Several thousand visitors were present to watch the exhibition ski jumping at Jackson Lake, where 10 ski jumpers gave a fine performance at the senior jump, at all times jumping well over 100 feet.

By reorganization, the payroll of seven major departments was cut $722,000.

Pennsylvania's Next Governor Sends Letter To Editor Of News

It's a good man who can make his opponent jump over the ropes and out of the ring before the bell rings to start the fight. But this is exactly what General Francis Shunk Brown has done in what was to have been a rip-roaring gubernatorial battle in Pennsylvania this year. With the result that he will be the next Governor of the Keystone State practically without a struggle—a most unprecedented proceeding in a Commonwealth renowned for the intensity of its political warfare.

In Pennsylvania the Republican nomination is equivalent to an election for a State officer. General Brown, to keep a family tradition alive, announced himself as a candidate some months ago. Two of his ancestors had filled the position with dignity and great credit to themselves.

Some years ago Joseph R. Grundy had started Samuel S. Lewis towards the Governor's office. Lewis was elected auditor-general, then State Treasurer. It seemed with the Mellon and Grundy interests behind him nothing could stop Lewis. And then Grundy was appointed to the Senate and, since Pennsylvania is to elect both a Senator and a Governor this year, it just naturally came about that Grundy and Lewis were on the same slate.

Here the lines were nicely drawn for about as fine a political battle as Pennsylvania had ever witnessed. For General Brown had served as Attorney-General during the administration of Martin G. Brumbaugh as Governor and in this capacity he was generalissimo of the Schoolmaster Governor's forces. This administration, through the fighting spirit of General Brown, had written into the Keystone statutes a workman's compensation and insurance law, a child labor law, one regulating the hours for the employment of women and other humanitarian legislation.

It was a battle royal, however. Opposing the Governor's forces headed by Brown was the powerful Pennsylvania Manufacturer's Association of which Grundy was President and behind which the big interests rallied. It was the privilege of the writer, because the newspaper he represented favored enactment of these laws to help the Brumbaugh-Brown forces in his humble way. There followed an intimate association and a friendship that has lasted over a period of years and that the writer regards very deeply so that he is pleased beyond words that, having discovered us congenially employed in the publication of a newspaper in about the finest spot on earth, General Brown has written us about it and we are passing his kindly words to our readers below.

But getting back to the Pennsylvania situation; sentiment for General Brown grew so fast and was so overwhelming that Lewis jumped the ropes and out of the fight, leaving his leader, Grundy, without a running mate and Grundy, himself a fighter of the first quality, stunned and undecided for a day or two whether or not to continue his fight for the Senate seat to which he has been appointed.

At the moment we can imagine no circumstances that will prevent our being in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, on the first Monday in January, 1931, to see a fearless, able, manly man inducted into the governorship. Here is General Brown's letter:

March 18, 1930

Mr. L. R. Goshorn,
"The News,"
Sierra Madre, Calif.

Dear Larry:

I am pleased to hear that you are located in California, and are the owner of a newspaper. Your high personal character, your loyalty to friends and your long and varied experience in newspaper work should commend you among those with whom you have now settled.

With assurance of my regard, and all good wishes for your success, I am,

Very sincerely yours,
Francis Shunk Brown.

Last Obstacle To Start Of Great Public Improvement Removed By Action Of Supervisors

are a few parcels of land that extend into the street that have never been legally dedicated, but have been acquired by use.

TO ACQUIRE SOME LAND

"At the Southeast corner of Central avenue and Sierra Madre avenue it is necessary to acquire some land in order to make a proper connection.

"From Sierra Madre avenue west to Villa street, Central avenue will be located along the Southern and Easterly sides of the Pacific Electric Company's right of way and will be 60 feet in width between property lines where the right of way is 60 feet in width and 65 feet in width where the right of way is 50 feet wide.

"From Villa avenue to Colorado street in Pasadena Central avenue extension, now known as Huntington drive, will be located on both sides of the Pacific Electric Company's right of way.

"Acquisition will be required at street intersecting with Central avenue such as Sierra Madre avenue and Sierra Madre Villa.

"The pavement as ordered by Sierra Madre will be six inches in thickness and will consist of four inches asphaltic concrete (open specifications) and two inches of "Amiesite" cold rolled wearing surface.

"Curbs will be constructed along both sides of the street throughout the length of the entire project except where they now exist.

PLANS FOR SIDEWALKS

"Sidewalks will be constructed along both sides of the street through Arcadia and in Sierra Madre between the Easterly city boundary line and the sidewalk now in place on East Central avenue.

"In Pasadena sidewalks will be constructed where the same does not exist at present. This also holds true for all unincorporated territory.

"In Sierra Madre gutters will be constructed along both sides of the street between the Eastern city boundary line and Baldwin avenue.

Through the Hastings property the present culverts will be extended across Central avenue.

"A bridge or culvert 20 feet in width will be constructed across the Little Santa Anita Wash. This will be installed in line with the proposed Los Angeles County Flood Control Channel.

"A bridge with a pavement width equal to the width of pavement of Central avenue extension and 100 feet in length will be constructed across the Eaton Wash.

"A single light standard of the Marbelite type will be installed along the entire project. Between Santa Anita and Sierra Madre the light will burn all night. West of Sierra Madre part of the lights will go out at midnight.

"Retaining walls will be required along the North side of Central avenue from Santa Anita avenue westerly for approximately 1,000 feet.

"It will be necessary to lower the grade of the Pacific Electric Company's tracks 60 feet East and West of Vinedo street on account of the steep cross-section of the street.

"All intersecting streets will require some repaving in order to conform to the new grades of Central avenue.

"In accordance with the requirements of the County it was necessary for each city interested in the project to pass resolutions requesting their share of the County Aid. Pasadena passed

BULLDOGS END WITH LOSS

Not out till they had given all they had, the Pasadena A and B track teams fell before their archrivals, Long Beach, last Friday, in the last meets of the season for the Bulldogs. The A's were vanquished, 72-1-2 to 40-1-2; the lightweights being taken, 67 to 36.

such a resolution on March 24th. Arcadia did not pass their resolution requesting aid but have requested the property owners to express their desire to join Sierra Madre in the project.

However, Arcadia gave tentative jurisdiction when this project was first under way permitting the preparation of plans and specifications in the project, and it is now being taken under consideration by the City Council of Arcadia whether or not they will stay with the project or do the improvement work under their own jurisdiction under proceeding.

RANGE OF ASSESSMENT

"In Arcadia the assessment district will extend one-half way between Central avenue and Grand View avenue on the North and one-half way between Central avenue and Live Oak avenue on the South.

"The entire city of Sierra Madre will be included in the assessment district.

"From Sierra Madre avenue to Sierra Madre Villa avenue in the county district will extend approximately 900 feet North of Central avenue and on the South will extend one-half way to Live Oak avenue. From Sierra Madre Villa avenue west the average width is approximately 1,000 feet.

"In Pasadena the district will take a very irregular course and includes the property benefited by the improvement.

"Should Arcadia make the request for County aid the total allocation to the project will be $75,000. This allocation is to apply as the County's share of the cost of grading and paving and the construction of the bridges across Little Santa Anita Wash and Eaton Wash.

"The estimated cost and the method of zoning and spreading the cost over the assessment district is now being completed.

"All the above proposed improvements are subject to change by the legislative bodies interested in the project before the final presentation of the Resolution of Intention."

Along the Paths of Yesterday

A History of Sierra Madre from the files of The NEWS.

FRIDAY, APRIL 5, 1907

The young ladies of Sierra Madre have organized a basketball team with Miss Gladys Humphries as coach. Games are being arranged with Pasadena, Azusa and Hollywood high school teams.

Fred Hatfield and Harold Costello represented Sierra Madre in a debate with Monrovia. The question was "Resolved, That the U. S. Was Not Justified in Recognizing Independence of Panama." Sierra Madre taking the affirmative and Monrovia the negative. The judges voted unanimously in favor of this city's team.

S. R. G. Twycross has taken G. W. Gill, until recently of Pueblo, Colo., in as a partner in his real estate business.

FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1911

The Town Council was in session until midnight at its last meeting listening to protests against the maintenance of Burro corrals along Mountain Trail avenue and the tying of burros for hire along the street. I. N. Ward, and E. Waldo Ward said property values were suffering as a result of the nuisance. C. E. Chantry spoke in defense of the corrals.

The last school election at which the vote will be cast only by men will be held next Tuesday and a big turn-out is urged so that there will not be a great contrast when women vote hereafter.

A floral parade, to be directed by A. S. Mead, is to feature this year's Flower Festival. Competition for the best collection of wild flowers to be exhibited under the direction of Miss Dale is attracting much interest.

MARCH 31, 1916

A lively fight for school trustee is developing over the candidacies of Prof. E. T. Pierce, seeking re-election and Mrs. Brown announcing that she is an "independent candidate" in response to a demand that there shall be a woman on the board.

Meeting at the home of Arthur Johnson, Jr., heads of the civic organizations and proprietors of various mountain camps, decide to launch a campaign to attract visitors to Sierra Madre and the adjacent mountains and resorts. At the next meeting of the Board of Trade the matter of advertising the city is to be taken up also and much interest is shown in the subject.

The intersection of Sierra Madre avenue and Foothill boulevard has come to be known as "a death trap," and there were two more serious accidents there over the week-end.

FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 1921

J. E. Mohn, of Santa Ana, has bought a lot and is about to build on North Lima. D. S. Riley, of Los Angeles, has bought a lot at 55 Olive street with the same end in view. F. J. Talamantes, of Los Angeles, has taken up his residence here and James N. Hawks has started a six-room house on East Grandview.

Two marriages to which much interest is attached, are announced, being that of Mrs. Edna Yerxa to Lieut. Frederick Wiggins, of Sydney, Australia, at Fresno, and of Miss Mary Louise Harrison to Thomas Hugh Mercer. The latter ceremony being performed at the Church of the Ascension here.

The Sierra Madre Transfer Co. is formed by the consolidation of the J. C. Whyte and the Charles E. Askew companies.

Announcement is made of a special bond election on April 26 to decide whether $16,000 in bonds shall be sold to provide fire fighting equipment.

FRIDAY, APRIL 4, 1924

The proposed $100,000 school bond issue lacked six votes of receiving the necessary two-thirds at the recent election and, of course, failed—the vote being 268 yes and 134 no, 274 being necessary to carry the issue. The election board threw out nine ballots, some of which bore no mark at all and others being marked "yes" and "no." Scores left the polls without voting after standing in line for long periods, it requiring an hour for some citizens to mark their ballots. Much fault is found with the cumbersome election system as a result.

The first anniversary of Dr. W. A. Tate's pastorate at the Congregational Church is to be celebrated with appropriate services at the church next Sunday.

The $80,000 water bond issue was approved by a vote of 386 to 54 at Tuesday's election and there is great rejoicing because the issue did not fall through over-confidence.

Salinas shipped the first carload of California lettuce last Friday. The car went to San Francisco and brought $1 a crate over the price of Yuma stock. The Salinas crop this year will be greater than the record $11,000,000 crop of 1929.

Propose Park System Extending from Sierra Madres to the Pacific

County Survey Looks to Net work to Cost Over
$224,000,000

Plans covering a vast network of parks for Los Angeles county, to cost $224,000,000, to be expended over a period of fifty years, and chiefly located in the metropolitan area of some 1,500 square miles between the Sierra Madres and the ocean, are being considered by a citizen's committee sponsored by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. The details, prepared after a survey covering two years, have just been submitted to the committee, of which John Treanor is chairman and Hugh R. Pomeroy, secretary.

It is proposed to spend a considerable part of the money for highway and flood control improvements, the entire sum to be spread over half a century so that a maximum of 15 cents on $100 assessed valuation in any year will meet the cost.

The plan contemplates a total length of 440 miles of parkways, comprising 70,000 acres, including 16,000 acres of park lands already publicly owned, along with 202 miles of outlying reservations of 92,000 acres of forest, desert and other areas.

The feature of the plan is the beach problem, the county already owning 14 miles of ocean frontage. It is proposed to purchase 27 additional miles, with five miles more in Orange county to provide a continuous strand from Santa Monica to Seal Beach, also the acquisition of almost half of the beach north along Malibu ranch.

The Arroyo Seco would be utilized as a parkway from the mountains to Elysian Park and directly across the city of Los Angeles to Exposition Park.

Automobile Prizes Spur Students On In Essay Contest

An essay contest to be participated in by college and university students, high-school and grammar school students, for prizes including three Chevrolet Six college sport roadsters, and a list of 50 and $25 cash prizes has just been announced by the Chevrolet dealers of Southern California, through W. M. Packer, zone manager. All essays will be limited to two hundred words, the subject to be the 1930 Chevrolet Six.

"Essays can be on wide list of subjects pertaining to the Chevrolet Six," Mr. Packer said. "Entrants can write on the mechanical features of the car, its economy, durability, appearance, body construction, or on special models, such as the Collegiate Sport Roadster or the Sport Sedan. Another suitable subject on how Chevrolet can today offer at a price of a four this six cylinder car, which has all the features of beauty, speed, luxurious fittings and durability, that a few years ago cost at least two or three thousand dollars. Details of the contest can be obtained at any Chevrolet dealership.

Many Wine Cellars Are Affected by Water Decision

Louis W. Myers, counsel for the California Vintyardists' Association, says the future existence of 20,000 vintyardists awaits a decision involving the making of home wine. Myers filed a brief supporting a petition for a rehearing of three cases recently decided by the appellate department of the Superior Court, which said that beverages made from concentrated grape juice violate the liquor law if they contain more than one-half of one per cent alcohol by volume.

The association asks a rehearing on the ground that concentrated grape syrup is simply grapes in condensed form, and that the water, having once been removed from them, the home owner commits no offense by putting the water back again.

A Machine That Actually Keeps Books

A National bookkeeping machine that performs quickly and without possibility of error every step in bookkeeping, is one of the features of the equipment of the Crown Building and Loan Ass'n., 38 North Marengo street, Pasadena. This machine was received only after the order had been in for six months, according to Mr. Read of the Crown Building and Loan. There are only a few such machines in use in the United States.

Other features of this financial institution which make it desirable are a Mosler vault, built especially strong to meet earthquake shocks, an ingenious money counter and separator, and an Addressograph which scientifically handles mail of the company. Altogether, the Crown Building and Loan Ass'n. is splendidly equipped to carry on the increasing volume of business which it is winning for itself.

During 1929 the railroads of this country established a number of new records for operating efficiency and economy. Then they broke another record when their annual tax payments exceeded $400,000,000 for the first time in history.

'Deadline' for Filing Vets' Claims Near

In a special bulletin sent to the 375 Posts of the American Legion in this State, Commander Clarence L. Kincaid of the World War Veterans' Organization is warning the ex-service men and women that April 6 is the final time for filing claims for compensation for disability incurred during the World War service. It is also the final date for the submission of evidence to support claims on disabilities other than nervous and mental diseases.

These limitations are provided in the World War Veterans Act. The Johnson Bill, sponsored by the Legion, now pending in Congress, for amending the World War Veterans' Act, provides for striking out these limitations. The passage of this bill at the present session of Congress, however, is not yet a certainty, and the Legion is therefore urging all World War veterans who believe they are entitled to compensation for service connected disabilities to get their claims on file with the United States Veterans' Bureau. Doing so now will protect their rights under existing laws should Congress fail to strike out the limitations now imposed.

National Commander O. L. Bodenhamer, of the Legion, will arrive in this State on April 14 for a tour of governmental hospitals and for conferences with Legion heads on the problems of ex-service men.

TWO COUNTIES JOIN IN BIG ROAD SCHEME

A joint meeting between members of the Los Angeles and Riverside county boards of supervisors is to be held to perfect plans for forming a joint highway district as a means of providing easier access to the proposed 200,000 acre San Jacinto Mountain Southern California State park. Should the two counties form a joint highway district they would unite in constructing a main highway across the mountain connecting directly with Palm Springs and forming a link in the transcontinental highway system.

Power Company Reaches Out Like Octopus In North

One power company has taken over all the territory from Bakersfield on the south to Eureka on the north, in California, as a result of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company acquiring the holdings of the North American Company. The Pacific will have assets of $650,000,000, with a gross revenue of $87,000,000, serving 1,200,000 customers.

The deal, which awaits only the Railroad Commission's approval, is a $127,750,000 transaction, which is the market value of the stock the Pacific will exchange for the North American shares.

MORMON CELEBRATION DRAWS 3,000 FROM HERE

More than 3,000 followers of the Latter Day Saints Church from Southern California are estimated to have gone by special Union Pacific trains to Salt Lake City yesterday for the 100th anniversary of the Mormon congregation.

Edwin M. Le Baron, executive chairman of the excursion committee, yesterday announced that this number are making the trip on the "party group" church special, carrying members and their friends. Twelve special trains constituted were necessary to handle the crowds, according to Union Pacific officials. More than 100,000 people from all over the United States, Canada, Mexico, Hawaii and the British Isles are expected to attend the celebration in Salt Lake City. A giant pageant depicting the history of the church from the time of its founding in 1830 until the present day, will feature the celebration. Special rates for those who were unable to leave on the special trains will be available over the Union Pacific systems, it was announced.

A REGRETTABLE ERROR

THE NEWS regrets most deeply, that in the announcement of the passing on of Elmer Jewett Rhodes, which appeared in last week's issue, an unfortunate error was made in stating that the end had come in Naples, Italy, instead of Naples, California.

This error was doubly unfortunate in that it added a measure to the grief of the relatives of the deceased and served to mislead many of their friends.

BILLIAR TOURNEY ON
Billiard lovers will be glad to learn that a big snooker tournament is scheduled for Thursday night, April 10, at 8 p. m., when the Sierra Madre contingent will meet Monrovia at the Baxter Billiard Parlor, located at the corner of Myrtle and Lemon in the latter city.

The combined net bonded indebtedness of our State and local governments at the end of 1928, totaled $12,578,900,000, according to the Tax Digest, Los Angeles; an increase of $6,930,000,000 since 1924.

Tells Kiwanis How Insurance Started At Lloyd's

Carroll Nelson entertained the members of Kiwanis at the weekly luncheon Tuesday with a talk on insurance. "Insurance had its beginning in a back room at Lloyd's, London," he said, "when a small group of ship owners pooled their resources to protect any one of their number from loss on the high seas. Today insurance covers everything."

"Many people think that insurance companies charge an exorbitant premium. You would be surprised to know that the actual rate of interest earned by the premium itself is only 2 1/2 per cent. Of course, insurance companies take the flood of small premiums and invest them to advantage but the actual cost figured from the policyholder is very low."

There is no business that is doing more for society today than insurance. At the same time, no business is subject to more quackery and misrepresentation."

Among the visitors at the luncheon was Archie Clifton, president of the Kiwanis Club of Monrovia.

The resignation of Mrs. Gruitt as secretary was received with sincere regret and a vote of thanks was tendered her in recognition of her devotion to the interests of the Red Cross.

A REGRETTABLE ERROR

THE NEWS regrets most deeply, that in the announcement of the passing on of Elmer Jewett Rhodes, which appeared in last week's issue, an unfortunate error was made in stating that the end had come in Naples, Italy, instead of Naples, California.

This error was doubly unfortunate in that it added a measure to the grief of the relatives of the deceased and served to mislead many of their friends.

BILLIAR TOURNEY ON
Billiard lovers will be glad to learn that a big snooker tournament is scheduled for Thursday night, April 10, at 8 p. m., when the Sierra Madre contingent will meet Monrovia at the Baxter Billiard Parlor, located at the corner of Myrtle and Lemon in the latter city.

Woman's Club Notes

EW officers for the coming year will be elected on April 23. Mrs. W. R. Humphries is chairman of the nominating committee from the board and Mrs. Homer W. Glidden and Mrs. J. M. The last Presidents' Council, which met in Claremont, was attended by Mrs. John H. Robertson, president of the club, Mrs. Nestor Young, Mrs. E. H. Porter and Mrs. J. M. Campbell.

Mrs. Robertson, who was among the 100 per cent presidents of the district for attendance at councils, sat at the 100 per cent table at luncheon. Mrs. Campbell, Federation secretary, was also 100 per cent.

At the District convention in Glendale next week, April 9, 10 and 11, Mrs. Robertson plans to be in attendance a part of the time, for high lights of the club year. Regular delegates to the convention are Mrs. Philip W. Senour, Mrs. J. M. Campbell, Mrs. Emile E. Smith, Mrs. Waverly Pratt and Mrs. E. H. Porter.

Reciprocity days at other clubs have been attended by members from our own club as follows: Mrs. John H. Robertson, Mrs. Wm. R. Lees, North Hollywood Woman's club; Mrs. Robertson and Miss Ella Shepard Bush, Pasadena Shakespeare club; Mrs. Robertson, Long Beach Ethel; Mrs. E. H. Mrs. Robertson asks cooperation of all members in buying these books, even though late in the year, so that cost of printing may be covered.

MRS. LAWLESS HOSTESS TO WELFARE SECTION—Mrs. W. J. Lawless, chairman of the public welfare legislation section of the Woman's Club, entertained a group of interested women at her picturesque home at 506 West Grand View last Friday afternoon from two until five o'clock. Dr. Margaret Wood Brooks spoke on "International Legislation."

Dr. Brooks was formerly of Columbia University and the University of California at Berkeley. She outlined the beginning of international relations, referring to the Postal Union formed in 1850 to facilitate transit of mail between all countries of the world. She spoke of similar international organizations prior to the World War and also of certain divisions of the League of Nations, since that time, acting upon many problems other than those of peace.

A paper was read by Mrs. W. J. Lawless.

Singers Says Less Depressing Music Is Sung at Funerals

Most people nowadays are inclined to take a more hopeful view of death than in former days, says Earl C. Houk, of Los Angeles, who has been the soloist at nearly 4,000 funerals in the last eighteen years. Mournful, depressing hymns like "Nearer My God to Thee," "We Shall Gather at the River" and "The Vacant Chair," are almost taboo now and some ministers prohibit them, he says. "One of the modern favorites," says Houk, "is 'The End of a Perfect Day.' Only hymns of the brighter sort and often popular songs are requested. Houk is blind. He started as a soloist for the Elks, but for years has devoted his full time to funeral engagements.

F. Thayer, Sr., on problems involved in prohibition, which showed that the best authorities available credit prohibition with improved conditions. These conditions, it was pointed out, are declared due to the releasing of the earnings of workers for better expenditures and for savings accounts.

General discussion followed the presentation of the two subjects, after which tea was served from a table daintily centered with a bowl of spring flowers in pastel colorings. Mrs. Lawless, always a gracious hostess was assisted by Mrs. A. A. Halsey and Mrs. R. S. Corlett, who poured tea.

Spring flowers were used in attractive profusion about the rooms.

BOY SCOUTS LINK US WITH THE JAPANESE

Fifteen Japanese boys stood before an American flag in Riverside and said in concert: "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States and to the republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all," the oath taken by all members of the Boy Scouts. The occasion was the installation of Troop No. 12, Eddie Peabody, bandmaster, presented the charter of the new troop to the Japanese Association of Riverside. Harry Mayeda, a Japanese of Sacramento, made an address in which he said that a recent visit of Boy Scouts to Japan opened the way to a link between Japan and America.

Four Square Circles Excited Over Aimee's 'Cutest Boy' Romance

Just before sailing from New York on her trip to the Holy Land with 150 followers, Aimee Semple McPherson's daughter, Roberta, dropped a tip that has stirred the Four Square circles all over America and promises a romance. In London there is a tall, handsome, curly-haired person who is "Mama's cutest boy friend," dropped Roberta, after her mother had told reporters her people would "have a fit" if she got married.

"I want a diamond ring and a home just like other folks," said Mrs. McPherson. "Hush," the evangelist cautioned Roberta, "if he sees that in the papers he will get scared and not see us when we arrive."

SIERRA MADRE'S OWN PICTURE TO BE SHOWN

Following the showing of Winnie Lightner in "She Couldn't Say No," at the Lyric theater, Monrovia, this and Saturday evening, Sierra Madre's thrilling picture, "The Sky Hawk" will be shown at a special midnight performance tomorrow, beginning at 11 p. m. This thrilling picture, most of which was filmed on the Stocker Estate here, will also be shown continuously on Sunday from 2:30 p. m.

S. S. Van Dine's famous story, "The Bishop Murder Case," with Basil Rathbone and Leila Hyams, will be the offering of the Lyric on Monday and Tuesday, April 7 and 8. Another feature of the program for these two days will be a mirth-provoking Harry Langdon comedy "The Head Guy."

From Wednesday the ninth to Saturday the twelfth a bill of triple interest is arranged for the Lyric screen. George O'Brien and Sue Carol, two prime favorites of the screen, will appear in "The Lone Star Ranger," Zane Grey's first all-talking picture which has scored a clean-cut triumph wherever it has been shown.

No Wonder this "RUM" Paralyzes People

Prohibition Commissioner Doran describes the drink that has caused hundreds of cases of paralysis in southern and southwestern States as a concoction composed of carbolic acid, or creosote and alcohol flavored with ginger. It has been sold as Jamaica ginger. The mixture is little better than "sheep dip," used to disinfect flocks, he says.

HUGE FLOCKS OF WILD GEESSE IN FLIGHT HERE

The tag end of a great horde of wild Canadian geese passed over Sierra Madre early Tuesday morning on their way back to spend the summer on their native heath. Early risers Tuesday saw several flocks, each containing 500 or more birds bound in the direction of Altadena.

Two great flocks flew down close to Altadena last Sunday, being forced close to earth by overhanging clouds. The flocks were two miles wide at the base and passed so low that Altadena residents had an opportunity to judge the size of the birds. Each flock was marshalled by a leader. After the geese passed a large flock of sea gulls came out of the mountains and hovered over Altadena.

CAN'T PICK FLOWERS

Amendments of the county wild flower ordinance to prohibit the picking of all wild plants and flowers instead of a limited few now protected by the law, has been passed by the county board of supervisors and will become effective within the next thirty days.

PUENTE TEACHER IS KILLED IN CRASH

Miss Margaret Featheringill was killed and Miss Margaret James seriously injured when the car in which they were driving to the Puente school, where they were teachers, hit a truck on Valley Boulevard, near Temple. Their car tried to pass around some others but could not clear the truck coming from the other direction and was overturned after a glancing blow.

Grade crossing accidents in Upland mounted to 16 last year, or third in the country, reports the State survey. Colton with 22 and San Bernardino with 20 were listed as first and second, respectively, on the casualty list.

Having proved excellent exterminators of the mealy bug in fruits and plants, growers in Riverside county will finance county breeding of 12,000,000 lady bird beetles this year, according to Agricultural Commissioner Ryan. Steam treatment is in use at present.

H. G. Eckstein, of the Crackerjack King Groves, Upland, packed seventeen boxes of his choicest oranges in a truck and left the truck in the grove over night. Thieves lifted the boxes over an eight-foot fence, emptied the fruit into sacks and left the empty boxes in a ditch.

The biggest crop of apricots of any section of California, is the claim being made this year for the Hemet Valley by John A. Blair, formerly of Hemet, but now associated with fruit marketing and canning at San Jose and San Francisco. There will be less than half the usual crop at Santa Paula and Santa Clara. He says there will not be enough this year to supply the canners and dryers and the shortage will result in increased prices. Hemet expects to supply close to 14,000 tons.

Despite the rain and fog more than 12,500 witnessed the Japanese Cherry Blossom festival at Cherry Valley, Beaumont, last Sunday. The Beaumont Rotary club sponsored a program that featured a dance by Japanese girls in native costume. More than a hundred girls from Los Angeles and Riverside took part. Guy Bogart, president of the Rotary club, was master of ceremonies. The decorations and entertainment were a replica of real Japan and only the weather marred the joy of the crowd.

Governor Young was Pasadena's guest on Tuesday at the planting of the first of the 1,000 cocos plumosa palm trees, which are to beautify Colorado street. The Chamber of Commerce and the Women's Civic League sponsored the palm tree idea. Fred Standish Kenfield, who fathered the idea of the palm planting, presented the governor. Mr. Kenfield wants to rename Colorado the "Street of a Thousand Palms." In planting the first tree Governor Young used a silver-plated shovel presented to him by Mrs. Charles O. The seventeen-year-old Camellia bush, declared to be the finest specimen in California, is now in bloom at the home of Harry W. Barron, South State street, Hemet. It is an Asiatic evergreen shrub, with large red blossoms, resembling roses but of much finer texture. It is eight feet high, has 116 blossoms and scores of buds. The plant at Hemet is on the Eastern side of the house and protected by large trees and from the afternoon sun by the house. The Camellia requires good drainage, some shade, and protection from wind. It is not subject to insects or pests and is hardy when once well started.

Coyote Pack Raids Sierra Madre Coops

But Minnie Davis Is Used to the Marauders and Lions, Too

Dark nights have been bringing the snooping coyotes out of the hills recently, robbing the residents of the upper reaches of Sierra Madre of sleep with their yips and cries. Several raids were made on chicken coops.

"They make a wierd sound, those coyotes. Sound sort of like children far away trying to imitate dogs," said Miss Minnie Davis, of 150 West Grandview, rocking back and forth in her old-fashioned chair. "Why, just a week ago I walked out on my front porch and there was one of those coyotes standing looking at me. I turned my dogs on him and he ran away. He had two others with him. I came out just in time because that coyote had been digging a hole under the wire of my chicken yard. In a few minutes he would have had my favorite setting hen. She knew he was there but she was too scared to cackle.

"After the coyotes ran away I called my dogs back. You know, those animals are foxy. They've got a way of running from dogs, pretending to be afraid, and then when they lure the dogs to where the main pack of coyotes is, they turn on them and kill them. "But I ought to be used to coyotes—and mountain lions, too. Some years ago there was an insane asylum where the Sierra Madre villa is now. One night it was reported that one of the violent patients had gotten out and there was great excitement. And late that night an awful yowling was heard. Lots of people were scared stiff but somebody had the nerve to investigate and found that the cause of the disturbance was a wildcat.

"Lots of wildcats used to come down on the old Bloomer estate—where Brice's academy is now. People were lots more scared of them than of coyotes, of course.

"Why, coyotes used to come right down to Central avenue at times and even down to the Santa Fe tracks. The dining car crew on a fast train that passed through here late in the evening used to throw refuse off at about this place and a pack came down regularly to pick it up."

Miss Davis lost eight hens in a raid by the coyotes on her henry on Sunday night. They were forcing their way into the henry of Jessie Smithers in Auburn avenue, north of Carter, when they were driven off. They were defiant, she says.

Getting Real "Dope" for Fruit Growers In the New Census

The census now being taken will supply a partial analysis of the farmer's own business, plus a statistical structure upon which to base his own and other's efforts towards improvements in such matters as the farm debt, marketing, purchasing and home betterment, according to President Sweet of the Pear Growers' Association. "It is up to the California farmer to see that a complete and accurate picture is painted by the census survey in this State. He alone can give the facts," says Sweet.

While the past census reports have failed to do justice to California's specialty fruit crops, it is stated that the 1930 schedule comprises a special set of questions designed primarily to develop the facts necessary to the solution of the fruit problems of this State.

Woman Seeks Seat in Arcadia Council

Mrs. Hilda M. Gray, member of the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Chamber of Commerce, has filed as a candidate for the short term on the Arcadia city council, making a total of three candidates for the two-year term, and six for the four-year term in the election, April 14. Mrs. Gray is the only woman seeking a place in the council, in fact, the first woman ever to seek a voice there. Before she was induced to make the race herself, Mrs. Gray endeavored to get several leading women of Arcadia to enter the field.

City Efficiency Claim Punctured by Facts

Better Government Committee Puts Hot Queries to Council

How About It? Ask Citizens Opposing Return to Office of Three Men On Their Records

To Councilmen Layton, Reavis, Lees, Stewart and Myers: The Sierra Madre Better Government Committee would like information.

How do you, as members of the council and candidates to succeed yourselves in office, reconcile the high-sounding claims and pledges in your campaign platform with the true facts of your methods in conducting the business of our city government?

How does it happen that if you are managing the city government on an economical basis as you boast, you employ five supervising foremen in the water department to do the work one man handled well under the previous city administration?

If your management of the city government is as efficient as you maintain, how does it happen that you allow the city to buy gas and oil for its 13 pieces of automotive equipment at retail instead of wholesale prices? It is not true that you could save 20 to 25 per cent on gas and 50 per cent on oil if you purchased these commodities wholesale instead of retail?

Why is it, if you believe that Sierra Madre taxpayers' money should be spent at home, you go outside the city to employ heads for the various departments of the municipal government? Is this consistent?

Why did you dispense with the services of Attorney J. H. Howard, an acknowledged authority on water litigation, as the legal representative of Sierra Madre in the all important controversy with Arcadia over the rights to the underground water supply in the Santa Anita basin?

Are you giving the taxpayers of Sierra Madre a square deal in entrusting Sierra Madre's interests to the present city attorney as special counsel, an attorney who can in no way be considered a specialist or an authority in water litigation, when Arcadia has employed an experienced water lawyer, Walter H. Haas, and a noted water engineer, Willis S. Jones, to handle its interests?

Is it true that Mr. Howard is retaining the records and papers in the water controversy matter because you have not paid him for his previous services?

Is it not true that once Sierra Madre loses any of its rights to the Santa Anita basin water those rights are lost for all time, can never be regained?

By your pre-election agreement on the water controversy how are the taxpayers of Sierra Madre to be assured that any compromise or settlement agreed upon is fair and just to this city when in the negotiations we do not have the benefit of expert legal and engineering counsel while Arcadia does have such counsel?

You say that Sierra Madre taxpayers are stockholders in the city government and that the government should be conducted as efficiently as a corporation in order to

Economy Claims Called Bunk

Demonstrating that the economy and efficiency claims of the present Sierra Madre city administration are but campaign "bunk" being fed to the voters to cover up the council's high handed tactics in handling improvement projects, the Better Government Committee has obtained startling information bearing on the street lighting situation.

High quality light standards made by a responsible company whose equipment the city council would not even consider has quoted prices to Pasadena at a saving of $1.45 a front foot less as compared to the Marbelite equipment.

This would mean a big saving on the Central avenue work, based upon the Pasadena figures, it was pointed out by William Murphy, chairman of the Better Government Committee.

"Our information from Pasadena proves positively our claim that the present council is lax and wasteful in its methods," said Mr. Murphy.

"We found that when the lighting of West Walnut street in our neighbor city was being considered, O. K. Fuller, chairman of the light committee there made an investigation of the prices and qualities of the standards made by the Lalux Manufacturing Company, in comparison with Marbelite standards.

"The Sierra Madre council specified Marbelite and would not even consider Lalux, as this committee has pointed out."

"On receiving the guarantee from the Lalux Manufacturing Co., I found that their guarantee was $1.45 cheaper per assessable front foot than the property owners paid for the Marbelite system on Walnut street between Fair Oaks and Lake street," said Fuller. The Marbelite type has been specified for the Central avenue project.

Vaupel Has Training for City Clerk's Job

Many years of experience as an accountant qualify V. S. Vaupel for the office of Sierra Madre City Clerk, according to members of the Better Government Committee which organization is sponsoring Mr. Vaupel's candidacy for the office in the coming Municipal election.

A graduate in business training and with wide experience in business affairs, Mr. Vaupel will give the clerk's office the kind of an administration it needs, the committee declares.

"My intention is to devote all of my time to the office if I am elected City Clerk," said Mr. Vaupel. "I believe I know Sierra Madre conditions and needs sufficiently well to perform the duties of the position in a satisfactory manner.

"My experience in accountancy is such that I can handle the books of the office without hiring a bookkeeper to do the work as is now the practice."

Belohlavek, Isaacs, Blakeslee Declared Best for Community

Responsible Business Men Are Best for Economical and Efficient Government of City

The cause of good government in Sierra Madre requires the election of George F. Blakeslee, Joseph Belohlavek and Henry Isaacs to the city council on Monday, April 14.

Sierra Madre needs men of their type, responsible, experienced, capable business men to conduct its municipal affairs. The running of a city is just as much a business as a private enterprise and requires business ability.

Solid citizens, taxpayers, men with the real interests of the community close to their hearts, Mr. Blakeslee, Mr. Belohlavek and Mr. Isaacs have lived in Sierra Madre for years. They know the needs of the city. They served on the council before and are acquainted with the machinery of the city government.

Their records as citizens and as public officials are excellent.

When Sierra Madre was planning to build a new city hall, a $50,000 bond issue was proposed. Mr. Isaacs and Mr. Belohlavek were members of the council. They held out against a $50,000 building, built one for $24,000 which is a credit to the city and thereby saved the taxpayers $26,000.

These men were responsible for the bond issue for improvement of the city's water system. They saw early that improvement was vitally necessary. They pioneered the movement, worked hard for ratification of the bonds and under their direction the work was begun.

These men are advocates of reasonable, advisable public improvements. They know that improvements must be kept in stride with community growth and progress. They know, too, that taxes must be kept down to the lowest possible figure.

These men are advocates of open and above-board conduct of the city government. They stand for clean, honest competition in every improvement project, every purchase of material by the city. They believe that when a person or a firm desiring to do business with the city, appears before the council to urge his cause, that every courtesy should be granted. They do not work in the dark.

In view of revelations made as to the methods of the present council this is a matter of importance to the citizens of this city.

They believe that Sierra Madre should get a dollar's worth of material or service for each dollar expended.

Mr. Blakeslee, Mr. Belohlavek and Mr. Isaacs are clean, honest, able and experienced.

ELECT THEM TO THE COUNCIL!

Where to Take How to Keep the Family Car

The Camp Baldy road is in excellent condition, being entirely dry all the way to camp.

Construction work is under way on the Kern Canyon-Walker Pass Road.

The road from Hemet to Idyllwild is in good condition, but from this point to Tahquitz Lodge, chains are necessary due to snow and mud.

Motorists traveling to Big Bear Lake at this time should use the Desert Route, via Victorville, according to the Touring Department of the National Automobile Club.

Motorists contemplating trips to the San Bernardino Mountain Districts should make local inquiry as to existing road conditions, advises the Touring Department of the National Automobile Club.

High compression motors should have the spark gap set closer than other types.

For good motor performance, the breaker point contact on your car should be clean and even.

The average car should have the cylinder block reground and new pistons ground to fit after it has traveled from 20,000 to 30,000 miles.

If the front wheel nut on your car is too tight, there is a possibility of ruining the wheel bearings.

FROM A READER

March 20, 1930

Editor of News,

Dear Sir:

In your last week's issue I saw a statement made by Mayor Myers to the effect that there is not a man out of work in Sierra Madre at the present time, that every applicant had been put to work on installation of the new water mains.

I would like to mention, that up to this date my application has not been acted upon, and I have been a resident of this city for seven years, with a family. I am not a property owner and taxpayer (I am not exempt from taxation). I naturally resent seeing men being brought into this town for city employment when there are still plenty of local men out of work.

MOVIE MADE HERE COMING TO WISTARIA

"The Sky Hawk," the moving picture made at Sierra Madre's doorstep, is coming home to roost. It will be shown at the Wistaria theater on Sunday afternoon and night and Monday night. Many of the most thrilling scenes were taken on the Sierra Madre ranch here, and many of the Sierrans either witnessed their making or served as background when the camera was grinding. Battles in the air between scores of planes revolve around a strong love story. Tonight and tomorrow night Hugh Trevor, Robert Ellis, Aileen Pringle and Dorothy Gulliver will appear in "Night Parade," at the Wistaria. Leo Carillo and Virginia Valli, starred in Mr. Antonio, are billed for next Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

"The Cockeyed World," long anticipated by patrons of the Wistaria, arrives on Thursday and stays through Saturday. Mr. Coburn, of the Wistaria, wishes to thank the Chamber of Commerce and the merchants of Sierra Madre who cooperated to fill the theater the evening of Thursday, March 27th.

"UNCLE WIGGLY" ROBBED

When "Uncle Wiggly" reached his home in Long Beach after an absence of two months, most of which time was spent in Sierra Madre, he found his apartment thoroughly vacuum-cleaned and dusted. "Uncle Wiggly's" little friends who knew when he should be home, had used this means to give him a pleasant surprise. They "robbed" him of a lot of work.

Col. Robert Frith Strong Candidate For Supervisor

Four hundred men and women interested in progress and prosperity in the first supervisorial district of Los Angeles county paid high compliment to Col. Robert E. Frith of Monrovia last night (Wednesday) at a dinner in his honor in the clubhouse, Central Manufacturing District, 4814 Loma Vista street, Los Angeles, and heard mayors and public officials from every city and community in the district acclaim him as the logical candidate to support for supervisor at the coming primaries.

Col. Frith, who is best known as the first federal prohibition administrator for Southern California and Arizona, told the guests that the demonstration in his behalf convinced him he should announce definitely his candidacy for the office, and stated that from now on his "hat was in the ring." The evening closed with action taken toward the formation of a Frith-for-Supervisor committee from every city and community in the district.

Col. Frith was born in Kankakee, Illinois, and entered business there as a member of the force of the Citizen's National Bank upon finishing school. He was appointed a lieutenant in the regular army by Uncle Joe Cannon, and served through the Spanish-American war; the Philippine Insurrection of 1901; the second intervention in Cuba in 1907-09; as paymaster in Chicago on the staff of Gen. Frederick Dent Grant; in the Panama canal zone; two more military assignments in the Philippines; through the world war in charge of recruiting in Iowa and Nebraska; retiring from the regular army on account of physical disability, October, 1921, with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. That same month he moved with his family to Monrovia, California, and on September 1, 1925, on recommendation of General Lincoln C. Andrews, was appointed by President Coolidge as prohibition administrator for Southern California and Arizona, serving until January 15, 1927.

Col. Frith is a member of Monrovia post American Legion; Lindbergh post, Spanish War Veterans of Monrovia; of the Elks of that city; and is affiliated with the Monrovia Presbyterian church. He is vice-president of the Citizen's Bank of Monrovia, and vice-president of the Citizen's Security Corporation. He has a wife and two children.

WORLD'S MOST BEAUTIFUL BOWER

THE Sierra Madre Wistaria is the most gorgeous bower of flowery loveliness to be found in the Western Hemisphere. The Fennel vine is believed to be the largest in the world. It covers almost the entire estate of Estelle Haines Fennel and was planted in 1893. Mingled with its tendrils may be seen three varieties of roses planted at about the same time. The first Wistaria Fête in Sierra Madre was held in 1913. It has been a great annual event since that time.

They Believe in Fairies

By Louise Hammond Green

IN Sierra Madre—because they have a Fairyland. When the March sun mounts high and has for half a month been getting warmer and warmer, the Fairyland in Sierra Madre bursts into being. Towering Mt. Wilson holds in the hollow of its hand a rare treasure, and when the warm rays of the sun find their way into the canyons of the southern slopes of the mountain, the wistaria flings its beauty into the world.

A gigantic wistaria vine, nurtured for many years by loving hands, now forever stilled, stretches forth its many arms over a wide area and reaches from over one house to another, fully five hundred feet away. Little by little the grey arms become dotted with blossoms growing more and more each day, until finally the purple flowers hang thick and heavy, and Sierra Madre cries with joy:

"The Wistaria is in bloom."

Drooping, nodding racemes above your head touch you lovingly as you walk along—a roof of wistaria above you. Tiny lavender petals at your feet—a carpet of tender blossoms to walk upon. And through it all, pervading all, the subtle perfume of wistaria.

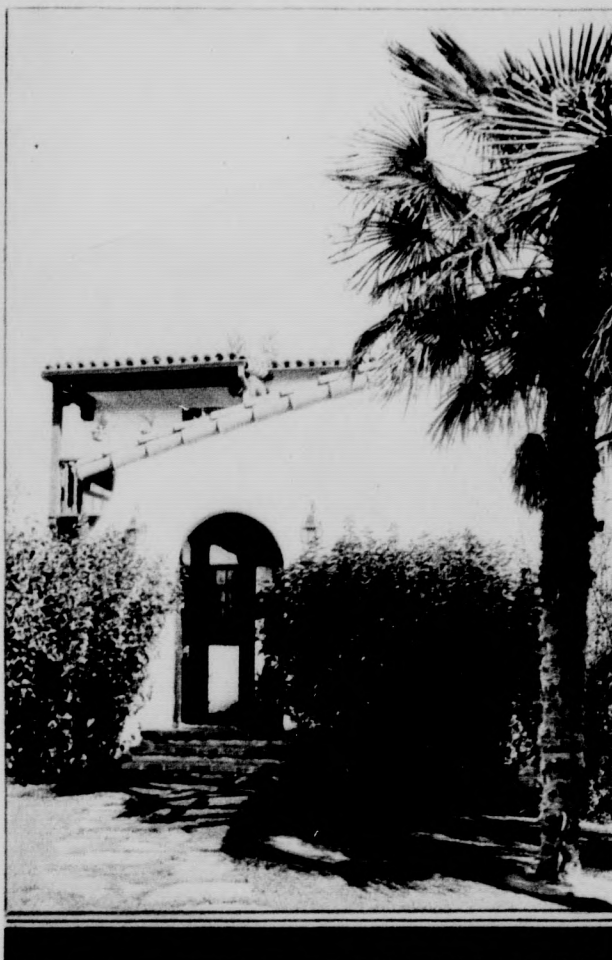

In this bower of loveliness you may gather your friends about you and have your lunch in the warm sunshine. Or if you prefer, in the afternoon dainty, smiling Japanese maidens will pour your tea, and all the time the wistaria will nod above you, dropping her tiny lavender petals on your table, while the carpet at your feet grows thicker and lovelier. If you can raise your eyes and look beyond the wistaria you will see majestic mountains close to your back, and stretching away below you for many wide miles, a beautiful valley. Nature never paints her canvas twice alike, and as many times as you come to breathe in the beauty of the Sierra Madre wistaria, so many times will you find a new picture.

Cynics tell us today that we do not care to look upon mere beauty. This cannot be true, because 50,000 beauty lovers passed through the gates to walk beneath the wistaria vine last year in only two weeks. The passport is only a smiling word as you enter the gates, and you may linger as long as you desire in this garden of exquisite loveliness.

You are made welcome by the women of Sierra Madre, and they generously offer you an opportunity to share their great gift from Nature. Sierra Madre—where the winter sun is a little warmer and the view across the valley a little broader. When the day is ended and the coolness of evening begins to settle down, you will return to your own fireside murmuring, "I have seen it—I have walked in it—there is a Fairyland."—Calif. Graphic.

Why I Prefer the Climate of Sierra Madre

By Col. H. B. Hersey
U. S. Weather Bureau

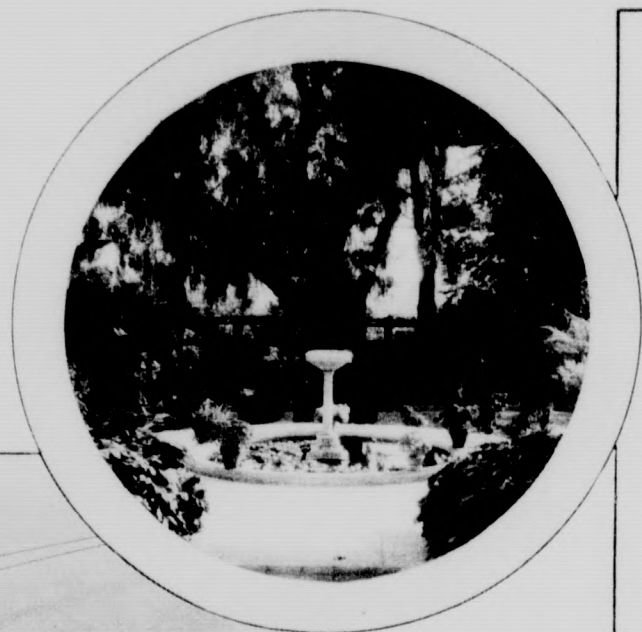

BECAUSE our distance from the ocean is great enough to insure a fairly dry air with but few days in a year with fog. Yet there are no mountains or high hills between us and the ocean. So the sea breezes come through to us balmy and pleasant, cooling our summer afternoons to a delightful degree. During the summer nights, gentle breezes flow softly down from the mountains above us, laden with the healing fragrance of the chaparral. Our southern slope is just steep enough to give almost perfect air drainage, carrying away the cold air rapidly in the winter nights, so that damaging frosts are almost unknown. While the annual rainfall is greater than most places in this region, severe storms are very infrequent and damaging winds almost never occur.

They say that "Actions speak louder than words." Well, after spending more than forty years in the study of climate and weather, after having visited many countries from the tropics to more than a thousand miles inside the Arctic circle, I selected Sierra Madre as having the climate I liked best of all.

THE SIERRA MADRE NEWS

SIERRA MADRE was the first community in America to reach one hundred per cent perfection in employment, in response to President Hoover's appeal for the promotion of public work. Mayor Al Myers reported this attainment to the President and received the following reply from the White House:

March 18, 1930. My dear Mr. Mayor: Your telegram of March 17th has been received. What you report regarding labor conditions in Sierra Madre is very gratifying to the President. He asks me to thank you for your kindness in sending him the information. Sincerely yours, Laurence Riebel, Secretary to the President.

Later others will be asked to help in some capacity or other and recognition of their efforts will be given in a later issue.

Why I Live in Sierra Madre

By Lee Shippey

Creator of "Lee Side of L. A." and Author of "Personal Glimpses"

I LIVE in Sierra Madre because it seems to me to have more real distinction than any other town I know. It is a friendly town—I know no other which takes one to its heart quite the way Sierra Madre does; yet it is a town in which one may enjoy quiet, refreshment and simple beauty. It is the only real city in Southern California which still has rustic charm, yet it has all the progressiveness one needs, and is in easy reach of the lovely city of Pasadena and the great city of Los Angeles. In all the other towns there is an atmosphere of strain, of competition, of fear that some other town will do a little more business, put up bigger buildings, or make a louder noise.

One of the great delights of Sierra Madre, to me, is that there is nothing about it to attract the go-getter. It attracts only people of quiet refinement who love beauty and simplicity more than the dollar sign. The result is that one's neighbors are quiet, gentle folk who can admire and grow fond of each other for what they are, not for what they have, and take pride in each other's real gifts for art, music, letters, inventiveness, citizenship, or friendship.

When one of our boys builds a glider, all of us are eager to see it triumph. When one of ours sings a song, or paints a picture, or writes a book, all of us are interested. If we had a great factory here, or struck oil here, we would lose immeasurably. For, after all, money never yet made a town. Nothing but people make a town. And here we have people who would make any town a town of charming gardens, friendly homes and loyal comradeships. And where can one find more than that?

The Woman's Club is the center of Sierra Madre's social life. It was founded by Mrs. Caroline Lincoln Osgood, March 11, 1907, with fifty-three members. The present membership is 225. The primary object of the club is to promote unity and good fellowship, and to strengthen philanthropic, creative and civic effort. Under the administration of Mrs. John H. Robertson, who will preside over the fete, the club has initiated many distinctive features and entertained many distinguished personages.
